

SEE MEETING SLATE TO ALTER CONSTITUTION

Open Forum Discussion; Set Tuesday Night; All Students Invited

A second meeting to forward the revamping of the Brigham Young University's student government and constitution will take place next Tuesday evening at 7:00 p.m. in the Maeser Assembly Hall, according to Clinton Oaks, student business manager. Encouraged by what was termed an "appreciative response" to last Thursday's two-hour session, the council went to work on the rough draft of a new constitution they plan to present for modification and discussion at the next open forum.

Backed by a unanimous vote of confidence from the representatives of the various campus organizations, the progressive student council will take a second step in an attempt to streamline the present organization to meet the demands of the expanding studentbody.

All student organization officers, class representatives, unit presidents, and all interested students are invited to the meeting.

"We are going to have to work fast and yet cover all the details," said Gordon Hawkins, studentbody proxy.

He pointed out that the reorganization and revision of the constitution would have to be ready for ratification for both the students and administration by election time.

"Even though it doesn't appear that we have accomplished much in our last meeting," Hawkins continued, "we did get the ball rolling, and we'll keep it rolling until the student administration is reasonably geared to meet the demands of the school."

Spearheaded by Clinton Oaks, last week's meeting dealt mainly with the inadequacies of the present constitution and the necessity of forming a more representative governing body. Mr. Oaks recommended, among other things, a new legislative body to be composed of delegates from all the major social and service units on the Y campus.

"With this new body in operation," commented Oaks, "the school will get a cross section of the student feeling. It will not be a process for all the school's ills, as some would believe, but it will certainly reduce the number of obstacles that are now hindering our progress."

The major part of the two-hour discussion was centered around the problem of representation of the four classes. It was suggested that the class representatives should be chosen in proportion to class enrollment. The issue was put in the form of a motion and voted upon. A strong majority voted the motion down in favor of selecting the legislature with an equal number coming from each class.

As the meeting drew to a close, the group was asked to vote of confidence in behalf of the student council and their actions in streamlining student authority. A unanimous vote was then given the executives.

With the revisions now in full swing, Tuesday's meeting will be patterned along the lines of discussion and open forum regarding certain amendments.

MARSHALL PLAN

Marshall Plan—now called European Recovery Program—challenging all-out effort to the European countries on hand wagon" so as to remedy the economic and political chaos in western Europe.

The western European countries "illness" is the outcome of World War II, the catastrophic weather of 1946-47, the resultant disruption of production, agriculture and trade, and the Marshall existence of a dollar shortage to war-financial stability.

For the plan, 16 western European countries will cooperate to rebuild their shattered ruins in ruin and a quarter with American help. That plan is designed to make the further self-supporting by 30, 1952.

Finance this program President Truman requests Congress appropriate $16 billion a year from 1948 to June 30, 1952. The plan for the four and a quarter program is 15 to 25 billion.

No money will be spent for fertilizer, steel, equipment and other tools necessary living which the western European nations need desperately to combat starvation, ill health and non-production.

In June 1947, Secretary of George C. Marshall, after a visit to the economic crisis in Europe, suggested that this council should support a European plan to help rid Europe of her ills. Sixteen nations—Belgium, Denmark, France, Greece, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, formed the Council of European Economic Relations, in 1948. 118th Annual LDS Conference To Be Transmitted By Television

Thousands of visitors to the L. D. S. Conference scheduled for the coming weekend at Temple Square will be treated to an additional thrill when a television set located in the Tabernacle will transmit the entire conference to spectators in the Assembly Hall.

Classes will be excused Monday, April 5, in order that faculty and students may attend quarterly conference to be held in Salt Lake City Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week.

vision set located in the Tabernacle will transmit the entire conference to spectators in the Assembly Hall.

Sponsored by the Church and Radio Station KSL, the project will provide the overflow crowds with views of speakers and choruses as they take part in the various sessions.

Used principally for experimental purposes, the television set has taken considerable time and effort for installation and testing. The six-man crew has been working for some time to ready the equipment by conference time.

It will be the first time in the history of the Church that the sessions will be transmitted by television. The innovation will accommodate an additional 5000 visitors.

Under the direction of Chief Engineer Vines Clayton, the crew will operate two mounted cameras on tripods besides the six revolving sets. The cameras will be equipped with three types of lenses to be interchangeable for all types of image transmission.

A direct lens will be used to transmit the images of speakers from the pulpit, and a special wide-angle lens will be used to transmit the singing of the chorale. A special telephone lens will be used for footrestless images. Largest screens to be used in the Assembly Hall will be a 20 by 20 inch screen, but there will be six or seven revolving sets to insure good vision for all within the hall. These sets will be placed in strategic places throughout the building.

PREPARING TO TELEVIEW—Rollow Kimball adjusts television equipment that will be used to transmit the proceedings of the L. D. S. conference from the tabernacle to the assembly hall.

Assisting Mr. Clayton in the operation of the television set will be Rollow Kimball, Howard Smith, Joe Shaw, Dave Seare, Ray Lawless, Paul Evans, and other special technicians.

Reported by Defense Secretary Forrestal, March 18, 1948, approximately one week after President Truman's plea for aid to the United States and peace.

Defense Secretary James Forrestal outlined the nation's needs and he stated that prompt preparedness must take place once and not next year or next month.

Forrestal stated before the Senate armed services committee that Russia

Does not "as yet" have the knowledge and capacity to make the atomic bomb.

Is threatening to blot our freedom in Europe—but despite this, the odds are not yet on Russia or war, the odds are still on the United States and peace.

Defense Secretary appeared before the Senate armed services committee to detail the President's program for strengthening the armed forces. He asked:

Power to draft non-veterans in the 19 to 25 age group to meet the armed services up to their present authorized strength, with an estimated 220,000 men to be drafted during the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

Universal military training as a long-range measure to bolster defense at a cost of about $400,000,000 for fiscal 1950.

Funds to increase the armed services by 349,500 officers and men, (a boost of 240,000 for the army; 63,000 for the navy; 11,000 for the marines and 35,500 for the air force).

Reestablishment of the navy would be spent—$75,000,000 for recruitment, research and development for the air force and aviation. About $760,000,000 for military personnel and for miscellaneous items.

(The Russian Red Army is now 170 divisions (about 1,700,000 men) plus 25 artillery divisions, plus 50 NKVD divisions (used for internal security). Approximate total 2,650,000.

Seasoned Yugoslav combat troops (under the Russian guidance) have been placed near the Italian border.

Fast-moving armored divisions and other Red Army concentrations have increased rapidly in Germany.

Since the duration of World War II, the Russians have continued their strict ration program, thus stockpiling their wheat and other grains.

Sweden, Scandinavia and other European countries are in a bad state of jitter over a possible Russian squeeze play, hence these countries refuse to have anything to do with the western European bloc.

The Russians realize that it is election year in the United States—thus they know it is the proper time to torment their European neighbors. Stalin is also aware that if the Marshall Plan starts working—Communism will lose ground in Europe.

The western European alliance is aimed at Russia; Stalin's boys must have a big stick in order to scare nations such as Sweden, from joining that alliance. The Italian elections also would go against Communism without a strong Russian show of force in Europe, and terrorism in Italy.

Russian leaders are aware that "now is the hour" for their "squeeze play" to become a reality. That is why Uncle Sam is talking manpower again.

1947 submitted their survey of the requirements for European reconstruction, to the U. S. government.

Western Europe is the key-stone of world recovery, since its 270 million people normally account for more than half the international trade of the entire world. Its lack of purchasing power affects the entire world.

It is obvious that all human beings must be fed, to maintain individual thinking, to maintain individual honor, to maintain individual freedom and reside in a home befitting to a Christian world. Present history relates that many individuals in the western European countries are undernourished. Today the national security and prospects of peace are at stake.

President Truman pointed out to Congress that the ERP must be made in time to put the program into effect by April 1. The president further warned, "If we provide only half-hearted and half-way help, our efforts will be dissipated and the chances for political and economic stability in Europe are likely to be lost."

Spring Carnival
Set Friday
In JS Building

Details were completed today for the AMS carnival which opens tomorrow at 4 p.m. with a pie eating contest in front of the Joseph Smith building.

Other highlights of the annual fun-packed carnival will include an evening of concessions, dancing and refreshments in the J. S. building. Proceeds will go toward the student union building, according to Gordon Jenkins, general chairman.

Some 200 pies have been ordered for the first main carnival event Friday afternoon. The contest is open to all male students and a grand prize will be awarded the winner.

A variety of carnival concessions sponsored by 32 different campus organizations will open for business at 7:30 p.m. Among the featured attractions will be a kissing booth, magic show, ring tossing and dart throwing games, fortune telling booth, tin-type studio, and tunnel of love. It also has been rumored that Cesta Tie and Brigadier social units are working on a marriage booth and honeymoon ride, and the Prospective Missionary's organization is engineering a post office and messenger service.

Refreshment booths will sell hot dogs, ice cream, root beer, candy and other carnival delicacies.

Dancing to the music of Owen Clark and his orchestra will begin at 9 p.m. Stags in the crowd who are too shy to bring a date will be glad to know that a group of "taxi dancers" have been arranged for, Mr. Jenkins pointed out.

Tickets will be sold at the door for five cents each, and there will be positive no cash transactions at any of the booths. Admission to each concession will be one ticket, and each dance will also cost a ticket. Sale of tickets will continue throughout the evening.

The booth that collects the most tickets will be awarded a $15 cash prize by AMS. However, Mr. Jenkins reminds organizations sponsoring booths that to remain eligible for the cash award booth must be completely disassembled by 8 a.m. Saturday morning.

Leotards Wanted

Leotards, used in dancing classes for girls, are wanted by the Women's Athletic Department, according to Miss Norma Rae Lees, dancing instructor. The dancing apparel is used in both creative and modern dancing classes and only sizes 36-38 are used.

Parties interested in selling or renting their gear can contact Miss Lees tomorrow between 10-12 at the Women's Gym.

Women Can Brighten Spring Outfit Within Budget Limit

For the woman with a limited budget, the question of what to buy to perk up her spring wardrobe presents a problem.

If you have a spring coat, one dress, bought with great taste and intelligence, is the best investment you could make. For this year, not only are dresses prettier, they are far more useful than ever. The two-pieces are back—little skirts and jackets that team to make a dress with the range of a suit. If your coat is dark be certain your dress is bright. If your coat is bright, let your dress be navy, splashed with white.

If you have a spring dress, add a coat if you can—and a blazing one. This is smart buying, for your coat will be with you for the green half of the year. Approach a coat this way; it can be long, three-quarter length, finger length—but it should be fairly narrow-shouldered and must look smart over full skirts. The shape can be long fitted, princess. A wrapped, three-quarter length is fine, too, and personally we like pea jackets. On the other hand, if you're out for elegance, have a button-decked dress-maker coat.

Highlight Of Social Year Gone, But Not Forgotten

And then . . . oblivion. This year's junior prom with its sea of bright cellophane and swish of gay formal against a ground of somber tuxedos will be long remembered by the students who attended one of the two nights last weekend. Friday and Saturday evenings found the efforts of Frank and his committee well rewarded after months of dilapidation for the leading social event of the year. The enchantment and magic music of Rulon Rasmussen's orchestra prompted several couples to announce engagements and gift stars to many other dreamy eyes.

The decorations, carrying out the theme of romance in glit and Then Oblivion, was depicted with a huge translucent jewel chest at one side of the room banked with cellophane flowers. Glimmering butterflies hovered over the chest were suspended from the ceiling over the dancing couples. A filled with water and goldfish were placed on the ledges mirrors were used around

Women were presented jewel box favors.

The original theme song "Promised Valentine," was composed for the prom by Clifford Gates, composer of music for "Promised Valentine." A double quartet introduced the song at the prom on Thursday and they again at intermission Friday night. Members of group were Claire Stedman, Helen Elliot, Norma Jean Howard, Eldon Sheldon Elliot, Owen and Myrtle Brown. They were accompanied by Mr. on the piano and Bob on the bass violin.

and the couples seen Friday night were Donna Lundell, My Miller, Vicky Smith, Gene Robinson, Evelyn and Bob Klein, Donette and Fred Brown, and Anderson and Stan.

Social Flashbacks

Spring is the time a young man's fancy turns, and if he wants to stay a bachelor, it had better turn and run. The "man-bun" is still on, and the men love it!

Ed Lebbard and Nona Sharp became Mr. and Mrs. St. Pat's Day. They were married in the L. D. S. Temple and held an informal party after the ceremony. Ed and Nona met in the dark room in the Education Building . . . which only goes to prove the wild adage that more than negatives develop in a dark room.

Y students heard more wedding bells March 25, when Wilford Brudner and Violet Asbury took the "fatal step." Married in the Salt Lake Temple, the couple invited friends to a reception at the Lion House. A few Yers in attendance were Bill Geertzen, who gave the couple a "sympathy" card; Claudia Knell, Darrell Stuart, Eldon Bitter and wife and Professor Max Rogers and Mrs. Rogers.

A tender romance has been going on between Owen Kalk and Helen Elliott. Helen is wearing Owen's diamond. They will become a regular "duet" in June when the wedding takes place.

Glenn Bowen "Takes a wife" in June and Marty Willis is singing "California Here I Come" with a real meaning as his bride-to-be is in the sunshine state.

Dilts Workman and Uneva Lister climaxed a Bantay romance a few weeks ago with a diamond ring.

Denna Hawkins and Hebe Hall are probably house hunting now that things have been made definite with a diamond ring.

Barbara Webb and Jim Bradley are seen in towns nowadays. Third finger left hand has a refined piece of carbon on it.

Earl Reed will be calling Eunice Frost his "Mrs." come June, and last but not least Julia Angelin and Jay Bishop were among those who announced their engagement during the "Olivion" prom last weekend.

Gospel German Class To Present Fireside

A fireside will be presented by the Gospel German class Sunday at 8:15 p.m. in Room 200 Smith building.

Short talks and musical numbers will be presented to the class in the German language. Other students are invited and special invitation is extended to the members of the German club, and all German speaking residents of Provo and surrounding areas.

Women Make Y Day Plans

Lynn Warner, Kelso, Calif., has been appointed chairman of girls' activities on Y Day, according to Leone Winegar, AWS president.

Activities will include junk-pile, cake, and relay race, contests, community singing, softball, and lunch for the men — when they return from cleaning the Y.

Purpose of increased activities this year is to get more participation from the girls. In previous years most of the work has been left up to the men. Organization of activities to include all campus groups will instigate more interest by students, Miss Warner said.

A junk-pile contest will begin at 8:30 a.m. Groups having the largest pile of junk by 11 a.m. will receive cumulative points towards receiving a grand award in competitive events during the day.

Lunch, community singing, and a cake contest will be staged from 12 to 1:30 p.m. At least one cake will be submitted by each organization for the cake contest. They will be auctioned off after competent judges have chosen the winning cake.

Eight Teams to Participate In Debate Meet

Final plans have been made for the debate tournament to be held Wednesday and Thursday, April 1 and 2 according to Floyd Woodfield, debate manager.

It is expected that at least eight teams will participate in the competition, and each team will go the entire four rounds without elimination.

The opening round will take place at 4 o'clock Wednesday, all of the debates will be held in the speech center.

At the end of the four rounds, the two best teams will be chosen to participate later in a championship match to determine the school's best debaters.

From this inter-university competition, the teams will be chosen which will represent the Y at the invitational meet to be held at the University of Montana in the later part of this month.

A practice meet was held here last Monday with some of the debaters from the College of Puget Sound in Washington. Four teams from here participated in the debates.

The teams were as follows: Floyd Woodfield and Clark Knowlton, Ralph Benson and Kay Randall, Tom Andrew and Homer Jensen, and Marie Hood and Moana Ballif.

Summer School Statements Sent

An illustrated folder announcing the BYU Summer quarter is being mailed to school officials throughout Utah, according to Dr. A. C. Lambert, summer dean.

A broad offering of graduate and undergraduate courses will be available during the summer in 37 departments of the university, the announcement states. The quarter is divided into two terms, the first from June 7 to July 15, and the second from July 15 to August 21.

Club Planned

Due to interest shown by students, a roller skating club will be formed in room 175 tomorrow at 8:45 p.m. According to Co.

Fred Anderson, anyone who skates, or has the desire to sk is invited to the meeting. The club has the sanction of the co-ordinator's office. Coach Anderson states that reduced prices and instruction will be offered at the skating to all club members. In keeping with the policy of the club, meeting tomorrow will be in plenty of time so that members may attend the AMIS conv.

A message to you from the Chief of Staff

"April 6 is Army Day. It is a day which will have a special meaning for college men. More than half of you are veterans of the last war. Many of you are members of the Organized Reserve. Many others belong to the R.O.T.C. or National Guard.

"All of you are making a vital contribution toward World Peace and the security of this nation.

"The U. S. Army is the finest army in the world and the only one of its kind among the major powers. It is 100% volunteer. It is composed entirely of civilian soldiers . . . men like yourselves who realize that a strong America is a peaceful America, and that the responsibility of making America strong rests in the hands of every American citizen.

"The U. S. Army is not a large army, as armies go. It is shouldering tasks far greater than any other army of like size has ever attempted.

Our occupation force in Japan is the smallest per capita of any modern occupation army. Our force in Europe is the smallest of the three major powers.

"But behind this Army stand you men of the Organized Reserve and the R.O.T.C. I have known many of you personally. I have been with many of you in action. I know the fine type of men you are and the realism that leads you to equip yourselves with military training.

"Further, I know the valuable service you can render the nation in time of emergency. A great deal of the success of fast mobilization and the actual winning of the war was due to the 106,000 trained Reserve Officers and the top-notch National Guard units which were available for quick action.

"To you, on Army Day, I believe I speak for millions of Americans in offering commendation for the fine job you are doing."

Columbia Slates Low-Priced Summer Travel

"Sightseeing plus insight" is the keynote of the more than twenty studytours offered to college students and described in an illustrated booklet just issued by World Studytours, of the Columbia University Travel Service.

World Studytours, a non-profit educational corporation, was the first agency to undertake student travel to Europe after the war.
They arranged one studytour in the summer of 1946 and six last summer. Studytours for 1948 vary in length from 21 days to 97 days, and in cost from $250 to $1960.
They include Eastern Europe behind the alleged iron curtain as well as Western Europe, South America, Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand, and points of interest in the United States. Several European trips for students are scheduled at costs of only about $600 from New York back to New York. The figure includes stewardship, rail and bus fares, rooms, meals, guides, admission fees, and the leadership of an educator especially skilled in combining the recreational aspects of travel with opportunities to meet people and to observe life abroad in ways which most tourists miss.

Studytours are designed not only to be less expensive than commercial tours, but to be more educative in the best sense of that word. They continue the tradition of the pre-war "Open Road" in cultivating transnational friendships and vigor in toward economic, social, cultural and cultural movement abroad.

College Deans Show Concern With Current War Atmosphere

Deans of universities throughout the country are concerned about the effect of the present war atmosphere and feel that if another war comes their schools must be better prepared to face its problems. Dr. Wesley P.
Lloyd, dean of students, reported.

Dean Lloyd returned last week from Dallas, Tex., where the annual conference of the National Assn. of Deans and Advisers of Men was held.

March 11 to 13, at Southern Methodist university. As a member of the executive committee of the association, he led a discussion of the keynote address. He also led a round-table discussion and presented two reports to the final

O. S. Trovata Began With Eight Traveling Sisters

Attractive Phyllis Jones, president of O. S. Trovata social unit, beamed proudly as she sat chatting of O. S. girls, traditions and organization. Out of the interview with the gracious O. S. prey, many interesting facts were gleaned.

A backward glance at 28 years in which O. S. Trovata has been active on the Brigham Young campus shows justification for the pride Phyllis and other O. S. girls feel in their unit.

Organized in 1920 by eight girls from different sections of Utah, the unit was named Odo Sonora Trovata, which in Latin means "Eight Traveling Sisters." This modest beginning was a product of eight girls' friendship, companionship, and mutual ideals and interests, and these marks of sisterhood have been maintained throughout the unit's growth in membership and rich tradition.

Today there are 45 active members of O. S. Trovata, with an exceptionally outstanding alumnae organization which aids in all activities of the unit. The bonds of friendship and loyalty formed within the limits of Trovata membership are so cherished by O. S. girls of each succeeding year that many alumnae members cleave to an active association with the unit even after domestic duties or professional careers claim their attention.

Colors of the unit, gold and green, are artistically employed by the girls on such occasions as the Homecoming parade. Records of past events reveal Trovata talent and ingenuity in winning float, songfest and skit contests, and recognition in other fields of competitive endeavor.

O. S. Trovata girls participate enthusiastically in student body events and have contributed many members to class executive offices and to Junior Prom and other committee positions. They consistently extend their school spirit in athletic activities.

The difficult, symbol of grace and beauty, is the floral emblem of the organization. Added to this flower tradition is a complete list of traditional unit songs, viz., Sweetheart Song, Bride Song, Mother's Song, pledge songs, rush songs, and dream songs.

A first pledging, traditional, by a candlelight ceremony, is the first step in taking new members into the unit. This ceremony, as originated by O. S. Trovata, has been adopted by some other units. Goat week follows the initial pledging, and is culminated in a final formal pledging ceremony. At least 30 girls were pledged this year.

Among activities sponsored by the unit this year have been parties with Tandy Bricker, and Nautilus nuts for the fostering of friendly inter-unit relationships. The spring schedule is replete with traditional events. Besides a formal dinner dance to be held at Oamp Williams, a traditional invitational tea will be held, and an annual week-end camp party. A new tradition is being inaugurated in the form of a "scholastic dinner." By honoring girls holding highest scholastic ratings, it is hoped that all members will be encouraged to raise individual standards of scholarship.

O. S. girls are versatile and talented; they contribute much to campus life in the way of music, drama, dancing, sports, art, journalism, etc. Officers of the unit, besides Phyllis Jones, are Nana Lee Reynolds, vice-president; Annette Bailey, secretary; Lela Goutley, treasurer; Pam Poulson, reporter; Elaine Harmon, rush chairman; Elaine Hooper, activities manager; Nor-

Behind a mask of dejection there was a subtle smile of hope on the face of Udel Poulsen as the Joseph Smith cafeteria line, known for its great length and merciless ousting of "chiselers," politely made way for him as he courted his way to the front of the line.

He bravely objected when someone had to carry his tray to the table. His face showed determination even though he knew the crutches would not permit his balancing the tray.

The cheery atmosphere of the meal was broken by an offer to empty Poulsen's tray. "I can do it," he volunteered, but nobody would hear of it.

As the thoughtful student emptied the tray, Poulsen picked up his crutches in one hand and walked out.

Showing What Can Be Done

BY CAROL JENNENS

Perhaps you've noticed the dark-eyed, black-haired with a smile on her face, walking around the campus, is just who she was.

The smiling miss is Bonita Ramirez, affectionately known as "Bonnie" to her countless friends. She hails from St. Canyon, Utah. The outstanding characteristic of this year-old girl is her ability to remain cheerful in spite of handicap that would depress most people. That hand is the loss of sight that Bonnie suffered as a child.

Bonnie is possessed with a delightful, pleasant disposition, according to her many friends and admirers. Always has a kind word for everybody and would do anything humanly possible to help out a friend.

During her many school years, Bonnie has attended School for the Deaf and Blind at Ogden, Carbon Junior High, Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti, Michigan, the University of Utah, and finally Brigham Young where she is majoring in Spanish and minoring in psychology is affiliated with Lambda Delta Sigma.

Not long ago, Bonnie appeared on an assembly program where she sang and played an original composition. The song is just one of the many she has composed during years of studying music. She is also accomplished at playing the guitar and accordion, and is blessed with perfect pitch.

She is noted for being able to do everything for herself except studying which has to be done by readers. Her appearance is all due to instinct and the knowledge of how to dress, fix her hair, and apply make-up. It is by her marvelous sense of touch that she is able to do her own dressing and ironing.

After graduating in June, Bonnie plans to go to Phoenix, Arizona, where she will work with the rehabilitation association. We wish to extend to Bonnie our hope of success, for one person that is worthy of it.

CAUSE FOR AMERICAN PRIDE...

JEFFERSON'S ROUGH DRAFT OF THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

A Declaration by the Representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress assembled

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's god entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing it in such form, as to them shall seem best.

Part of the original manuscript of the Declaration of Independence written by Thomas Jefferson. It is now on display aboard the "Freedom Train." The revisions shown were included in the document finally presented to the Continental Congress.

Watts Primes Diamond Candidates For Opener

Baseball, the national pastime, got off to a fast start on the campus last week, when approximately fifty candidates for the Cougar nine greeted Coach Stan Watts at the first diamond workout, held at the Brigham Young athletic field.

Inasmuch as this is the first year that the Utah colleges have participated in baseball as a regular varsity sport, the calibre of ball which will be played is still an unknown quantity. However, several players of established reputations reported, and the fight for positions on the starting nine shapes up as a real dog-eat-dog affair.

Coach Watts reported that the three Utah colleges will play a home and home schedule, and the winner will meet the winner of the eastern division of the Skyline Six for the Conference crown. The championship game this year will be played at the home field of the Western Division winner.

First league test of the season for the Cougars will find the Redskins from Utah invading Timp Park on April 14.

Although the same eligibility rules will be in effect for the baseball team as are employed in the other varsity sports, freshman hopefuls are welcomed to work out with the team, Coach Watts states. In all probability Mr. Fred Anderson, of the physical education department, will have charge of supervising a greenling nine.

Hot stove league fans are touting the Cougars as a potential powerhouse, and point out that a wealth of experienced material is available.

The potential pitching staff is loaded, at least in quantity, with posiders Glen Clark, Ivan Beem and Glenn Brown, and righthanders Nelson Spaford, Wayne Graser, and Bob Bohnet, all expected to make strong bids for starting positions.

Unless some unknown, or unreported, talent appears on the scene, the catching chores may well be divided between pistol armed Glenn Olivereson, and his Kimball Merrill, Cougar football captain, will probably divide his time between baseball and spring football.

At first base, at least two well known performers are available in the persons of Don Bushore and Viri Sudweeks, and they may be strongly pushed by towering Galt Holt, another grid star.

Outfield prospects include such luminaries as Pete Skousen, Rand Clark, Evan Nielson, Rod Long and Joe Weight.

In the mail a few weeks ago, Loren Palmer, aspiring sports editor of the Montana State Kaimin, sent feelings out to members of the Skyline Six, asking whether the Bobcats would be suitable competition in athletic contests.

There are opinions both pro and con concerning this question, and it cannot be decided by this writer, but we will like to bring forth our ideas on the matter.

As to whether the Montanans would offer desirable competition, we think they would. In their second game of the late football season, the Cougars edged them out by a 19-14 score. They, in turn, beat both Idaho and U. of Montana members of the Pacific Coast conference. Idaho was the conqueror of both the U. of Youkon-who, and Stanford. U. of M beat Idaho and Washington State. This seems to indicate that they play a good brand of football up that way, good enough for this conference.

In basketball, the Cats have beaten USAC and Nevada, both of whom beat the Y. While this is no real indication of their capable prowess, they are entered in the NAIB, which would also seem to prove enough for the Mountain States.

On the negative side of the ledger are several very good arguments, but we will bring forth only two of them—distance and unbalancing the conference.

It is always desirable to have member teams fairly close together to make for good scheduling. Missouri is close enough for the western members of the league, but would be too far for Wyoming, Denver, or the Cole Aggies.

The rattle-tattle Kentucky Wildcats, virtually unbeatable in college competition, and the national AAU champion Phillips Oilers from Bartlesville, Okla., met in last night's Olympic championship game at Madison Square Garden in New York.

Local NY bookies favored the Oilers and more experienced Oilers. Prior to last night's contest, the AAU champs amassed 61 victories in 64 starts this season, giving them one of the most remarkable victory streaks of modern times, considering the caliber of their competition.

Coach Vadal Peterson, of the University of Utah, returning from a coaches conference in New York, observed that, "I've never seen a faster-breathing club than Rupp (Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky) has developed this year. They run like rabbits and shoot from every and all angles."

Five Kentucky players and five Phillip players, plus four others from the remaining squads which played in the Olympic meet, will go to London for the Olympic games this summer. The two teams have planned a home-and-home series during the summer to raise funds for the U. S. Olympic committee.

A proposed football game between the University of Utah and University of California was confirmed by Athletic Director Ike Armstrong of the U. school Friday.

The game will be played Friday night, Sept. 17, at the Los Angeles coliseum. In addition to the five conference games, Utah will meet USC, Idaho, Oregon State, Arizona, and Colorado.

Fundamentals Stressed In Gridiron Practice

BY FRED RADICHEL

Look for this year's edition of the Cougar eleven to be a heavy-hitting, hard-charging bunch of boys. Coach Eddie Kimball has made it plain that he will stress fundamentals, fundamentals, and more fundamentals in practices this spring.

Students who still shudder at the recollection of some of the inept displays of blocking and tackling put on by our boys in moleskin last season, stand a good chance of being pleasantly surprised this spring.

At the first session of practice last Monday, held indoors by threatening weather, films of some of last year's games were shown, to the chagrin of some and the amusement of others.

Coach Kimball then spoke briefly to the team. He outlined the season's schedule, a tough one, which will see the Cats play ten, and possibly eleven opponents.

Every position on the team is "wide open," said Kimball. "And positions will be assigned on the basis of performances, not reputation." He stressed the need for some of the tight tackling at times in last year's outfit.

The coach later stated that he expects some of this year's freshmen to break into the starting line-up. The fresh football team looked very good this past season.

Practices begin at 2:35 every afternoon and quite a large number of unfamiliar faces can be seen on the field. The large number of candidates means that competition for posts will be very keen, a healthy situation.

No definite time limit has been set for spring practice. Edgar simply states that drills would last till he was satisfied that his team knows how to run, block, and tackle. He has every intention of making 1948 a banner year for BYU football.

New NAIB Head

Ray Hanson, director of athletics at Western State College, Mo., will preside at the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball's 1948-49 season.

He was elected president NAIB yesterday in Kansas where the association's championship tournament played.

Hanson succeeds Joe W. ton, athletic director of Illinois University, St. Paul, Minn., as head of the organization. Other officers chosen by NAIB included:

W. A. "Gus" Miller, director West Texas State; vice president, Lee P. Northwestern State, Naches, La.; second vice president, W. A. Herington, athletic director Culver-Stockton, Mo.; third vice president, B. Reese, athletic director, Western Washington College, I. vice president.
E. S. Liston of Baldwin College was re-elected secretary.

Invitation Track Meet Begin April 17th

Junior colleges and high schools in nine western states will be invited this week to participate in the 35th annual Young University track and field meet, April 17, 23 and

Harrison Dillard, hurdling ace from Baldwin-Wallace, has invited along with several well-known trackmen from athletic clubs on the Pacific coast.

Because of the large number of athletes expected to compete this year, the meet will last six days instead of two. Competition among senior high girls on Saturday, April 17 will open the meet. Boys girls from junior high schools will participate in the first day's activities on Friday, April 23.

The meet will reach a climax on Saturday, April 24, when men from junior college and senior high schools will compete in the main events.

"Charles J. (Chick) Hart, man of the meet committee, said that invitations have been sent to 314 high schools, 110 high schools, and 20 colleges. Trackmen from year colleges cannot participate unless a special invitation is extended to them. We have invited schools in Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Montana, Arizona, Washington, and West Virginia," Dr. Hart said. "As yet, it is no way of telling how many athletes will enter the meet, but we expect the number to be higher than last year's entry of 2,600."

Harrison Dillard has not yet been invited by BYU's invitation, but later from him is expected. The Negro track star holds the world's record in both the 100 and 200 yard hurdles. He was the Purdue relay in Los Angeles, Saturday night, and won two of the relay records in the 62nd straight victory.

Invitations have also been sent to track stars representing three Pacific coast clubs:

Track Fielders Drill to Open April 16

Track fielders are in full swing at North Park tennis courts. A variety tennis team prepared for its first test of the season. The first match was with Utah University, and was played on April 16 at the Park tennis courts.

The Y tennis team is seeking a victory after having been defeated twice last year by the squad. This game should be one of the year's highlights with plenty of interest assured. Although the Y tennis team is very well known, the Y did have a better than average chance to pull through a victory.

Coach Fred W. Dixon, Brigham Young University tennis coach, led the Y's tennis team to "a fair" victory. Although Lynn Wood and the two Harmon brothers were the team's main strength, the four returning letmen and several other bright prospects should be able to make the year's squad one of the finest teams in BYU's history. The lettermen, Chauncey Webb, Jack Thurgood, Lee and Grant Hickman are

LEE-WAYS

By Johnny Lee

When spring weather melts the snow half-way up the Wasatch mountains, the college athletic program perennially splits three ways: into spring football, tennis, and track.

This year, in addition, baseball, that old national pastime makes a comeback on the western side of the Rockies. The eastern half of the conference has always included baseball as one of their regular sports.

Reports from the six corners of the Mountain States Conference paint a varied outlook on spring football practice.

Way up in Laramie, Coach Bowden "I'm from Tennessee" Wyatt took one look at the snow-piled football field and his draft, near heatless field house, then crawled back into winter hibernation.

At Denver, Mr. Rameaux, football publicity man deluxe, tried his hand at spreading a little "jaeked up" propaganda. "We need," says Roger, "at least four more pairs of size 14-15 shoes, and some of our fellows will have to practice without shoulder pads until we can find some that are at least five feet wide." Oh, cut it out Rameaux, next you'll be telling us about the "Big Blue Ox."

The three Utah colleges are having trouble separating their football players from their baseball players. A large part of BYU's football squad, including the captain elect for 1938, has turned out for the diamond drills.

At the USAC the same situation prevails except that a little different attitude is held concerning the problem. Dick Romney, head football coach, said that he was happy to see a large number of his regulars turn out for baseball practice. "It gives me more chance to get acquainted with my new boys, and lets me concentrate my efforts on those who really need the fundamentals," says he.

The National Basketball Committee concluded its annual two-day post-season confab in New York by announcing four changes in the Inter-Collegiate basketball rules.

The main points of these four changes are summarized as follows:

1. A foul committed on the throw-in from out of bounds will be treated as a personal foul instead of a technical foul.
2. Restrictions on a player withdrawing and re-entering a game during the same time out will be removed.
3. The clock will be stopped each time the ball is dead in the last two minutes of play instead of the last three minutes as before.
4. The "continuous action" rule was modified allowing a fouled player to continue any action toward making a field goal with the exception of dribbling.

TRASH BOX

Baseball fans were both gladdened and saddened by news recently centering two of baseball's greats. "Babe" Ruth came back to New York after a convalescent stay in Florida looking fit, tanned and healthy. Ty Cobb, however, was admitted to the New England Baptist Hospital in Boston to receive treatment for a serious internal disorder.

Of Kickapoo like Armstrong has a bad time landing his "Big Fish" football prospects. First, BYU copied highly regarded Rex Berry from out the Redskins fold and now Notre Dame is dangling the bait in front of big Joe Tangere, ex Carbon tackle. Looks like the red and white crying towel will be wetter than ever this year.

B. E. Grant, general superintendent of the American Smelting and Refining Company will speak on the "Possibilities in the Mining Industry for Geologists" when he addresses the Geology Club at 12 noon in 470 E. according to Dr. George H. Hansen, of the geology department.

Modern Sports Need Clean-up

The younger generation will be justified in wondering whether sports idols are more crooked today than they were in the past, or whether officials are more vigilant.

Some of those writers with high foreheads and a lot of brain, not to be confused with sports writers, probably could sit down in a dark corner and write a most engrossing thesis on what we are coming to.

There was a time when a sports scandal was really a scandal. Nowadays a good part of the sports reporting comes out of a police station.

What is it? It can't be that money is so free in the 1930's they had a sports boom which everybody and wouldn't be duplicated. But there wasn't any expose worth a nickel.

Perhaps the officials were a little more tolerant of the going on than they are today.

The expulsion from hockey yesterday of Billy Taylor, of the Rangers, was shocking only to those who sit on the sidelines. Hockey actually has always been a suspect because it is perhaps the one sport where you can catch an Englishman by fixing only one man—the goalie.

Taylor was not in any way connected with a fix, but the point is that he was according to allegations from the National Hockey League, involved in gambling.

Every gambler around New York will tell every sports writer I told you so.

29 Hawaiians in School Here Have Mixed Racial Background

BY RICHARD KWAK

The Hawaiians who have come from their homes across the sea to the Rockies to enter the BYU—twenty-nine enrolled for winter quarter, which is the largest enrollment of Hawaiians in the history of the institution, according to Dean A. Peterson, associate registrar—as a group are thoroughly mixed in race. They represent four of the major islands of the "Paradise Isles" which are called Hawaii, the "Big Island"; Maui, the "Valley Island"; Kauai, the "Garden Island"; and Oahu, the "Fortress."

Hawaii is quite a testing ground for studying inter-racial harmony of people who have come from distant lands to these tropical islands as one big, happy family. Working in the pineapple and sugar cane fields was the prime labor; few came as professional men and missionaries. Pioneers in this land (not speaking of pure the Hawaiians) had come from all over the world. Portugal, Spain, Philippines, Japan, China, Korea, England, United States, and Puerto Rico were the early contributors. And some of the "Hawaii-ans" on the campus can claim their ancestry to these spirited emigrants. Also, they can prove how harmoniously they can live together.

The writer has found the racial extraction of the "Hawaii-ans" to be of this order: One Chinese, one Korean, six Japanese, one Samoan, four Hawaiian - Chinese, one Korean - English - Hawaiian, one Japanese - German - Hawaiian, one American Indian - Hawaiian - Chinese - Portuguese - Spanish, two Chinese - Hawaiian - Greek - German - Spanish, one Hawaiian - Norwegian, one Hawaiian - Chinese - Irish, one Hawaiian - Spanish - Chinese, two Hawaiian - Chinese - French - English, two Hawaiian - English - Irish, and one Hawaiian - English - German - Swedish - Scotch.

The Hawaiians are a talented group. Singing, dancing and strumming of ukuleles and guitar are their specialties. Some desire to be doctors and others teachers and social workers.

I shall bring to light some of the personalities. From Wailuku, Maui, came Laura Mae and Frances Goodness, daughters of Senator Reuben Goodness, of the Territorial Senate. Chinese-Hawaiian-French-English is the ancestry of these two petite sisters. Laura Mae has an Hawaiian name, Kukuloro, which means "Seeing the Goddess, Lono." Kukuloro is a freshman and dances the hula well. In the production "A Night in Hawaii" she danced the "Pretty Red Hibiscus" which depicted the beauty of Hawaii's national flower. Kukuloro has indicated that she wanted to be a kindergarten teacher.

Frances is a sophomore, and, like her sister, also does the hula, and wants to become a kindergarten teacher. Iwan-

Iani, her native name, meaning "Heavenly Bird," has a natural soprano voice—sweet flowing and melodious.

Jean Chae, daughter of a well-known Chinese photographer and landowner in Honolulu, is a driving senior. She was a graduate of San Mateo high school in California. Jung, her Chinese name means "A bird (legendary) with quietly virtues." She plans to teach in an elementary school in Provo for a year before going to Columbia university for Master's degree. Last year she taught a Sunday School class in the University ward. At present she is doing missionary work for the Utah stake.

Tommy Kekaula, a pre-medical student and a freshman, is a Chinese-Hawaiian from Kailua. He is a graduate of Kamehameha school (named after the great Hawaiian king, Kamehameha I who united the islands under one sovereign rule, and is the only institution that admits students of Hawaiian blood). There he excelled in boxing, baseball, football and track. His Hawaiian name, "Arona," meaning "Spokenman," corresponds with Aaron in the Bible, meaning "Spokenman" also.

The BYU means a great deal to the Hawaiians; its faculty and students are symbols of eternal friendliness, kindness, and service. It means an abode where young people of similar faith and ideals have come to enjoy and develop their talents to better serve their fellowmen, their country and their God.

Administrators Fear Rise In University Tuition Rates

College and university administrators throughout the United States are concerned about mounting tuition rates at their schools, according to President Howard S. McDonald.

President McDonald returned to his office Monday, after attending last week the convention in Chicago of the Conference on Higher Education of the National Education Association.

During the conference he served as chairman of the section on student activities.

Tuition and other expenses throughout the country are rising so rapidly that educational institutions will be unable to attend to the needs of the colleges and universities. One of the remedies found most favor with the administrators, President McDonald said, is an increase in scholarships.

Colleges throughout the country anticipate little drop in enrollment as the peak of vacation attendance declines, he said.
